

PRODUCT FEATURE:

Hard-Floor Cleaning Machines

We've been getting lots of requests for machines that will clean or wash hard floors like wood, laminate and tile. The good news is that we carry those types of machines AND are your local authorized dealer and service/warranty station. However, it's important to clear some confusion and answer a few questions before you venture out to buy one...

In the Left corner:
The "Bissell Steam Mop"

In the Right corner:
The "Hoover FloorMate"

Stop in to Queen Vacuum today and let us help you decide which product is right for you!

(Both are stock items, but call ahead to confirm quantities.)

If you want to clean and sanitize your hard floors without the use of chemicals...a Bissell STEAM MOP is perfect for you. Remember that 99% of these machines DO NOT have suction or vacuum your floor. You must do that separately ahead of time. Also, much like a regular mop, you will be pushing around a microfiber pad that gets continually dirtier as you pick up loosened dirt from the floor. However, pure steam loosens dirt and grime effectively without the use of chemical agents.

If you want to vacuum, truly wash & scrub your hard floors without putting dirty water back down...a Hoover FLOOR MATE is perfect for you. Remember that these units DO NOT create steam, although you can use very warm water. (For years, Hoover has named many of their water "extractors" like these "Steamvacs," although the name is misleading.) FloorMates can only be used on non-porous and "sealed" hard floors, as a great deal of water is dispensed before being sucked up. But there lies the beauty - two separate tanks separate the clean water from the recovered dirty water. Clean water with a special soap solution gets laid down first, rotating brushes deeply scrub, and then a suctioning squeegee head immediately sucks up the mess. A little more work and maintenance, but a must-have for really grimy floors or homes prone to spills and wet messes. Oh yes, and you do have the option to "dry vacuum" your hard floors with a unit like this too.
